<td>1,000 millilitres</td>
<td>= 1 litre</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>litre (l)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Area (2 dimensions)

Area = length x breadth (or width).

- 3m*4m = 12m²: 3 metres long by 4 metres wide is an area of 12 square metres.

Volume (3 dimensions)

Volume = length * breadth (or width) * height or depth

- 2 metres by 3 metres by 4 metres is a volume of 24 cubic metres.

Prefixes

- ‘kilo’ means 1000
- ‘centi’ means 100
- ‘deci’ means 1/10
- ‘milli’ means 1/1000
Fractions

\( \frac{1}{2} = \) half
  - half an hour (30 minutes)
  - \( 2 \frac{1}{2} = \) two and a half

\( \frac{1}{4} = \) a quarter
  - a quarter of an hour (15 minutes)
  - \( 3 \frac{1}{4} = \) three and a quarter

Decimals

- 0.25 = zero point two five
- 2.5 = two point five

Writing numbers

- In English we use a ‘comma’ to separate each thousand: e.g. 2,000; 15,000; 25,000.

Percentages

- 50% = fifty percent (‘percent’ means per hundred)

1.2 Dimensions

A dimension is a measurement of something’s length, height, width, depth or thickness.

Q: What are the dimensions of this room?
A: This room is 12 metres long by 6 metres wide by 3 metres high.

We use ‘tall’ but not ‘high’ with people. We can also use ‘tall’ with trees and buildings.
  - He is a tall man.
  - Our mango tree is very tall.

We use ‘high’ with buildings, trees, mountains and other things but not people.
‘High’ is used to describe the distance of something from the ground or from the top to the bottom.

- How high is that building?
- A very tall/high building is called a ‘skyscraper’.
- There are a lot of high mountains in Europe.
- The wall around our garden is 2 metres high.
- The aeroplane flew very high up in the sky.

1.3 Forming measurement questions

If we use a noun for asking a question about a measurement we use ‘what’.

Question: What is the + dimension + of + something?
Answer: The + dimension + of the + something + is + number + measurement

Q: What is the depth of the oil well?
A: The depth of the oil well is 300 metres.

Q: What is the height of the derrick?
A: The height of the derrick is 60 metres.

If we use an adjective for asking about a measurement we use ‘how’.

Question: How + adjective + is + subject
Answer: Subject + is + number + measurement + adjective.

Q: How long is this room?  - length
A: This room is five metres long.

Q: How long was the meeting?  - length of time
A: The meeting was two hours long.

Q: How deep is the oil well?  - depth
A: The well is 300 metres deep.

Q: How tall are you?  - height
A: I am 180 centimetres tall.

Q: How high is this room?  - height
A: The room is 3 metres high.

Q: How far is the airport?  - distance
A: The airport is 15 kilometres away.

Exercise

Write two questions and two answers about the water tank. Use ‘depth’ and ‘deep’.

1. Q: ...........................................................................................................................................
   A: ..............................................................................................................................................

2. Q: ...........................................................................................................................................
   A: ...............................................................................................................................................
Exercise

Complete the questions using ‘how’.

1. .................................................................................................................. (length of time) will you be away?

2. ........................................................................................................ (distance) is Baucau from Dili?

3. ........................................................................................................ (depth) is the water well in your village?

4. ........................................................................................................ (height) is the derrick on the oil rig?

5. I drive to work every morning. .................................................. (length of time) does it take you?

6. ........................................................................................................ (height) are you?

7. ........................................................................................................ (width) is the river.

8. ........................................................................................................ (length of time) have you worked here?

9. The river where we go swimming is very....................................................... (depth).

10. How.................................................. (depth) is it?

11.................................................. (distance) is the bank from the hotel?

12.................................................. (height) is that mango tree in your garden?

13.................................................. (weight) is a sack of rice?

1.4 Questions and answers about measurements

For plural subjects, use:

Question:  How many ... are there ...?
Answer:  There are ....

For example:

Q:  How many grams are there in a kilogram?
A:  There are one thousand grams in a kilogram.
Exercise

Insert ‘is there’ or ‘are there’ in the question, and write the correct answer, using a full sentence.

1. Q: How many centimetres ............................................ in a metre?
   A: .....................................................................................................

2. Q: How many metres ............................................ in a kilometre?
   A: .....................................................................................................

3. Q: How many litres .................................................. in a barrel of oil?
   A: .....................................................................................................

4. Q: How many millimetres ............................................ in a centimetre?
   A: .....................................................................................................

Adjectives require ‘to be’

Every sentence must have a verb. If you use an adjective to describe the subject, you must also use a verb. Usually this verb is ‘to be’.

- My workmates are friendly. (NOT: My workmates friendly.)
- My boss was absent yesterday.
- These work boots were expensive.
- Is your job interesting?
- Was the examination difficult?
2.1 Comparing quantity: ‘much more’, ‘much less’

When we compare two or more quantities and we want to show that the difference is big, we can use:

“much more” ........................ than = a lot more ........................ than “much less” ........................ than = a lot less ........................ than

Marcos has $20 and Maria has $6 dollars.
- Marcos has the most money.
- Maria has the least money.

Marcos has $10 and Maria has $2.
- Marcos has a lot more/much more money than Maria.
- Maria has a lot less/much less money than Marcos.

2.8 Spills and leaks

We have a problem with our forklift driver.

Exercise

Delete the incorrect form of the verbs in this paragraph.

Forklift accident in the oil store

This morning there was/were an accident in the oil store. The forklift knocks over/knocked over an oil drum (A) and a lot of oil spills/spilled out. Then the forklift hit/hits a second oil drum (B) and made a hole in the side of it. Oil leaks/leaked out of that drum and make/made a big mess on the floor. We cleans/cleaned up the mess immediately as oil on the floor is very dangerous because it is slippery.

Answer these two questions using the information given.

1. Why did oil spill out of drum A? ________________________________

2. Why did oil leak out of drum B? ________________________________

4. PRODUCTION AND TRANSPORTATION

4.1 Text: An oil refinery

Follow the flow of petroleum from crude oil to the end products.

FROM CRUDE OIL TO AVIATION FUEL.

When crude oil comes from the oil well or an oil tanker it goes into storage. From there it goes into a furnace where it is heated. From the furnace it goes into a column. The heaviest parts of the crude oil, such as bitumen and asphalt, go to the lower part of the column. The lighter parts go higher up the column and will become different products.
Exercise
Refer to the paragraph and answer the questions.
1. Which parts of the crude oil go to the bottom of the column?
2.
3. From the diagram, name three products that are made from petroleum?
4.
5. What do you think ‘bitumen and asphalt’ are used for? Refer to the diagram.
6.
7. Underline one superlative and three comparative adjectives in the paragraph.

4.2 Pronoun ‘one’
‘One’ is a number. It is also used as a pronoun; we use it so that we do not need to repeat a noun. Look at these examples:

- I have forgotten my pen. Can I borrow one? (= Can I borrow a pen?)
- My mobile phone is broken so I’m going to buy a new one. (= a new mobile phone)

Exercise
Insert ‘one’ or ‘ones’ in the following sentences.
1. My new drill is better than my old ...........................................?
2. That book is $5. How much is this...........................................?
3. My new work boots are more comfortable than my old ..........................................
4. I have sold my old motorcycle and bought a new ..........................................

4.4 Texts: An oil pipeline and the Panama Canal

Oil pipeline

British Petroleum (known as BP) is a very large international oil company. From next year BP plans to ship 100,000 barrels of oil a day by pipeline to Panama’s Pacific coast port where it will be loaded onto tankers bound for the U.S. Crude oil tankers too large to traverse the Panama Canal usually go around South America but the overland pipeline greatly reduces transit times and lowers freight costs. The trans-Panama pipeline’s capacity is 600,000 barrels a day.

The Panama Canal

The Panama Canal joins the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. The canal is slightly more than 64 km (40 miles) long/length. Each year more than 12,000 ships pass through the canal, cutting about 12,600 km (7,800 miles) off the voyage between the two oceans. The minimum deep/depth is 12.5 m (41 ft), and the minimum wide/width is 91.5 m (300 ft), allowing all the largest ships to pass through.

Exercise

Refer to the two paragraphs and answer the following questions. Answer in complete sentences where required.

1. What is ‘the US’? (paragraph 1) ............................................................................................................

2. Find a word from paragraph 1 which mean the same as:

   o going to ........................................................................................................................................ o big .................................................................................................................................................... o across ...............................................................................................................................................
   o travel, journey .................................................................................................................................
   o goods, cargo .....................................................................................................................................

3. In paragraph 2, delete the incorrect underlined words.

4. What is a tanker? ....................................................................................................................................

5. What are the two oceans mentioned in paragraph 2? .................................................................

6. How deep is the Panama Canal? ....................................................................................................

7. Why do ships use the Panama Canal? Discuss this with a colleague.

6. EMPLOYMENT

6.1 Mario’s job application

Mario applied for a job last week. Here is what happened.

Insert the correct tense of the verbs given.

My name ……………………… (be) Mario. I ……………………… (apply) for a job last week with the Shell Oil Company. They ……………………… (call) me the next day and ……………………… (invite) me for an interview. I ……………………… (be) very nervous before the interview and more nervous when I ……………………… (go) into the interview room. My tie ……………………… (be) not straight, my shoes ……………………… (be) dusty and my hair ……………………… (be) a mess. I also ……………………… (forget) to take my CV with me.

There ……………………… (be) three people on the interview panel.

There ……………………… (be) one man and two women. Firstly they ……………………… (introduce) themselves then they ……………………… (ask) me about my education and about my experience. I ……………………… (tell) them it ……………………… (be) my first job application and that I ……………………… (not, have) any experience.

They ……………………… (tell) me about the job and ……………………… (give) me some information about the company to read. I ……………………… (ask) some questions but ……………………… (not, ask) about the pay. I ……………………… (want) them to think I ……………………… (be) only interested in the job and my future. The interview ……………………… (be) very thorough and I ……………………… (be) pleased when it ……………………… (be) over.

This morning I ……………………… (be) both surprised and pleased because they ……………………… (telephone) me and ……………………… (offer) me the job.

I ……………………… (be) very happy and I ……………………… (say) ‘yes’ immediately.

From the dialogue find a synonym for each of the following words:

1. knowledge :……………………………………………………………………

2. right away :……………………………………………………………………

3. worried :……………………………………………………………………

4. untidy :……………………………………………………………………
6.2 ‘Used to’

We use used to when we are talking about something which was true for quite a long time in the past, but is not true any more. Look at the examples below.

Here is some information about Mario.

................................. (My/Mine) salary is quite good but ................................. (her/hers) is better.
Choose the correct word and write it in the space.

I went shopping with .................................. (my/mine) mother last Saturday and we each bought a pair of shoes.

........................................ (Her/Hers) are size 43 but ........................................ (my/mine) are size 40.
........................................ (Her/Hers) shoes are black and ........................................ (my/mine) are brown.
........................................ (Her/Hers) shoes were much cheaper than ........................................ (my/mine) but ........................................ (her/hers) are a better brand.

Fortunately she can’t borrow .................................. (my/mine) because ..................................
.................................................................. (my/mine) shoes are too small for her and ........................................ (her/hers) are too big for me.

Choose the correct word and write it in the space.

I borrowed a set of spanners and .......................................... (your/yours) hacksaw from ........................................ (your/yours) toolbox this morning. I needed the spanners to repair
........................................ (my/mine) motorcycle today because I left
........................................ (my/mine) set at home so I borrowed ........................................ (your/yours).
I know the hacksaw is ................................................ (your/yours) and not ........................................ (my/mine) because it has ................................................ (your/yours) name on it. Please forgive ........................................ (me/my).

I promise to give them back to you on Monday.

8. How ...................................... (many/much) times have you been to Baucau.

9. How ...................................... (much/many) petrol do you put into your motorcycle when you go to the garage.
Every third week I work day shift. That means I start work at 6 o’clock and finish at 2.00 pm. When I get to work in the morning the supervisor tells us our duties for the week. He usually sends me to the warehouse to load the trucks. I don’t mind because it is good exercise but sometimes the boxes are too heavy for me to lift so somebody helps me. Monday and Friday are the busiest days and by the end of the week I am really tired.

Unfortunately on day shift we don’t have an hour for lunch, we only have 30 minutes so there isn’t much time to have a rest. At lunchtime I go with my workmates to the cafe next door and we talk about work and sport.

When I finish work I usually go with my friends to play football and afterwards we meet at a restaurant near the beach. I stay up late on day shift as I don’t have to get up too early the next day.

Exercise

Answer the questions in complete sentences.

1. Why did Mario ask somebody to help him lift the boxes?

   ........................................................................................................................................

2. What do they talk about over lunch?

   ........................................................................................................................................

3. From the writing find one superlative adjective.

   ........................................................................................................................................

4. How often does Mario work day shift?

   ........................................................................................................................................

5. From the passage find and write down synonyms for the words below:

   6. begin :........................................

   7. boss :........................................

   8. fill :...........................................

   9. pick-up :.....................................

   10. sleepy :.....................................

   11. sadly :.....................................

   12. close to .....................................
6.8  Text: Mario’s afternoon shift

Insert the correct form of the verb into the spaces below.

Yesterday afternoon I ........................................... (work) a double shift.

We ........................................... (be) very busy on the rig because the drill
........................................... (break) just after I started my shift and we ........................................... (have) to attach a new bit. We ........................................... (call out) the mechanics and it ........................................... (take) them nearly five hours to replace it. The supervisor ........................................... (not, be) happy because it usually
........................................... (take) about two hours. Then, one of my colleagues
........................................... (have) an accident. He ........................................... (slip) on some oil and ........................................... (pull) a muscle in his leg. We ........................................... (take) him to the clinic and the nurse ........................................... (examine) him, gave him some pain killers and then ........................................... (send) him home. He will be off-work for a week. I
........................................... (not, finish) until 6.00am and I ........................................... (be) really tired by the time I ........................................... (reach) home so I ........................................... (go) straight to bed.
Answer the questions below in complete sentences.

1. What is a ‘double shift’?
   .............................................................................................................................

2. How long did it take them to replace the bit?
   .............................................................................................................................

3. How did his colleague pull a muscle in his leg?
   .............................................................................................................................

4. What did the nurse do?

8. What time did Mario finish his shift?
   .............................................................................................................................

9. How long does it usually take to fix the drill?
   .............................................................................................................................

6.9 Text: Mario on night shift

Last night my shift started at 10 pm but I clocked-in 15 minutes earlier so that I had time to put on my safety equipment, my overalls, my boots and my helmet. I put my gloves in my back pocket as I do not need them all the time.

The first thing I did was to check-in with my supervisor to receive my instructions. Then I went to my work station. I checked my tools and cleaned the work area to remove any dangerous bits and pieces from the floor. During the shift the supervisor came around to check on me. We had a coffee break at midnight and a ‘lunch’ break at 2.30am. My shift finished at 6.00am and the day shift took over. When I finished my shift I reported to the supervisor. I told him about a few safety issues then I signed-out and went home to bed.

ANSWER:
7.1 Safety signs and symbols

Safety signs and symbols consist of messages, words and symbols with a variety of sizes, shapes and colours. All the shapes and colours are standardised. Each shape and each colour has a different meaning.

The shapes of workplace health and safety signs

Triangles: \[\triangle\]
A triangle shows a warning, for instance that there is danger from toxic gas or electric shock.

Circles: \[\bigcirc\] \[\bigcirc\]
A circle shows that you should do something, for example that you should wear eye goggles and safety hard hats.
A circle with a diagonal line across it shows that you must not do something, for example that you must not eat or drink in this place.

Squares or rectangles: \[\square\] \[\square\]
Squares and rectangles show information.

The colours used in workplace safety signs and symbols

Red:
Red marks emergency devices like fire fighting equipment, or shows that you must not do something.

Yellow:
Yellow marks warnings.

Blue:
Blue shows that you must do something, or shows information. For example a sign to wear personal protective equipment.

Green:
Green shows the location of first aid equipment.

Examples of signs
Here are some examples of signs. For each sign write down:
1. What does this sign mean?
2. Where would you see a sign like this?
Review:

1. What are red signs used for? ........................................................................................................
2. What are green signs used for? ......................................................................................................
3. What are triangular signs used for? ................................................................................................
4. What are circular signs used for? ...................................................................................................

Discuss the answers to these questions:

1. Why are signs used and not words?
2. Do you think people take notice of signs?

8.6 Writing a basic business letter

The following phrases are usually found in a standard business letter.

Starting the letter

Dear Sir/Madam,
Use this if you don't know who you are writing to.

Dear Ms Smith,
Use a title and surname if you know the name of the person you are writing to, and have a formal relationship with them. Common titles are ‘Dr’, ‘Mr’, ‘Mrs’, ‘Miss’ and ‘Ms’. For women, use ‘Ms’ unless you are asked to use ‘Mrs’ (for married women) or ‘Miss’ (for single women).

Dear Frank,
Use a first name if the person is a close business contact or friend.

Referring to the letter or advertisement you are replying to:

- Thank you for your letter of 5 March.
- With reference to your advertisement in the Times
- In reply to your letter of 23 March,
- With reference to your phone call today.

Giving the reason for writing:

- I am writing to enquire about ...
- I would like to apologise for ...

- I would be grateful if you could ...

Agreeing to requests:

- I would be delighted to present the speech at your graduation ceremony.
- I would be pleased to assist you in your research.
- I would be happy to provide the information that you require.

Giving bad news:

- Unfortunately the meeting has been changed.
- I am afraid that I can’t come on Monday.
- I’m sorry for the late reply.

Enclosing documents

- I am enclosing the information you asked for.
- Please find enclosed the information you wanted.
- Enclosed you will find the information you requested.

Closing

- Thank you for your help. Please contact us again if we can help in any way.
- Please feel free to contact us if there are any problems.
- Should you have any questions, please feel free to contact us.
Referring to future contact:

- I look forward to hearing from you soon
- I look forward to meeting you next Tuesday.

Signing off:

Yours faithfully, Use this if you don't know the name of the person you're writing to Yours sincerely, Use this if you know the name of the person you're writing to Best wishes/Best regards, you can use this if the person is a close business contact or friend

Then sign your name, and write it in full.
8.7 Writing a covering letter for a job application

When we apply for a job, we usually write a letter (called a ‘covering letter’) and a curriculum vitae. The letter gives information about yourself, why you are applying for the job, your qualifications and your personal qualities.

In English, letters have a very specific layout and format. Here is an example.

Your contact address
Your contact telephone number
Your email address

Going to (name or department)
Address
City

Date (day, month, year)

Dear Sir/Madam

Paragraph one: introduction.

I am writing to apply for the position of .................................., which was advertised recently in the ................................... (newspaper) / on your website. I have attached my curriculum vitae to support my application.

Paragraph two: qualifications.

Write about your qualifications, where you have studied, what you have studied and how this can be used in the job. Include any further study you are planning.

Paragraph three: personal.

Write why you are the right person for the job, your work experience, your personality. Use expressions from the advertisement.

Paragraph four: conclusion.

Say that you look forward to hearing from them and that you are available for an interview at their convenience.

Sign off:

Yours sincerely,

The following advertisement appeared in the Chicago Tribune dated 25 July, and also on the web site of the Mexted Oil Company.

---

MEXTED OIL COMPANY Inc.
250 Long Beach Drive, Austin, Texas, USA.

We are looking for an Oil Rig Technician in our Austin office. The role involves taking, evaluating and recording rock and soil samples from off-shore drilling rigs and therefore attention to detail and computer literacy are important requirements.

This is a position for someone with a BSc (Geology) or a BMechEng who wants to enter the exciting oil industry. There is plenty of opportunity for promotion for those who are prepared to make this a career. We are looking for an enthusiastic person who is a team player, who can work without supervision and who has initiative. The job can be physically demanding with some shift work and long hours in a dirty and dangerous environment and in all weathers.

To apply.

Address your application to the personnel manager. Applications close in 14 days.

---

Imagine that you have finished your degree. Write a covering letter applying for this job. First use the table below to match your qualities with the job. Write some comments in the box. Then use this information to write your letter on the following page.

8.8 Writing emails

Some rules

Emails are now a very important means of communication. It is therefore important that they are written correctly. Here are some guidelines for a good formal email.

Do:

- use a subject line which says briefly what the email is about. Often two or three words are enough.
- write the most important information first.
- use numbers and bullet points to make the message clearer.
- it is better to use correct simple English than to use long sentences which are confusing.
- use paragraphs to keep the email clear and easy to understand.

Do not:

- write ‘hello’ as your subject line
- write whole words in capitals, eg. HELLO
- use different fonts in the email
- use a series of exclamation marks !!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!
- use informal abbreviations like cos, and uni,
- use acronyms like BTW, ASAP, BFN, except for organisations (e.g. UNDP, ANZ)
- use ‘smileys’ 😊. These are only appropriate in informal emails to friends.

Exercise

There are at least ten errors in this email. Find them and correct them.

Subject: Email about the details of the conference in August.

HELLO marcos,

How are you today!!! The weather is HOT today. It rained all night last night. How is YOUR family? My family is well.

Here is the information about the conference:

- The conference is on Monday 25th August.
- It will start at 9 o’clock am.
- It will finish at 4.30 pm.

If you need any more information please contact me. My telephone number is 123 4567.

 Regards
Exercise

Write an email using the following sentences in the correct order.

1. I look forward to meeting you next week.
2. Our office is located close to the station. The best thing to do is catch a taxi.
3. I am writing to confirm your visit to us next month.
5. When you arrive, please ask for me at reception and I will come and meet you.
6. Dear Peter,
7. If you need to contact me, my mobile number is 123 4546.

Exercise

You are going on leave for two weeks. Send an email to your colleagues to let them know.

Exercise

Write an email to the Australian Embassy asking for information about studying in Australia.
9. VERB TENSES

9.1 Simple present tense

Function of simple present tense

The simple present tense is used for an action that is repeated or usual. The action can be a habit, a hobby, a daily event, a scheduled event or something that often happens. It is also used for future planned events.

Here are some examples of simple present tense:

- Fact (or something we believe to be true)
  - Beijing is the capital of China.
  - Exxon and Royal Dutch Shell are very big oil companies.
  - All my friends live in Baucau.

- Opinion:
  - A job in the oil industry has a good future.
  - I think that is a good idea.

- Habit:
  - My husband usually gets up at 6.00 o’clock every day.
  - We always have lunch at 12.30pm.
  - We normally go to the market on Saturdays.

- Timetables, schedules and rosters:
  - The plane from Darwin arrives at 9.00am.
  - Your shift begins at 8.30am.

- Future: for future events or programmes
  - The meeting starts at 9.00am tomorrow.
  - The bus leaves at 10 o’clock.

Structure of present tense

The verb ‘to be’ is irregular:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Verb</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I</td>
<td>Am</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>he/she/it</td>
<td>Is</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>we/you/they</td>
<td>Are</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

For all other verbs, we put ‘s’, ‘es’ or ‘ies’ on the third person singular form.

Where the verb ends in ‘y’ we delete the ‘y’ and add ‘ies’

- carry = carr+ies = carries
Where the verb ends in ‘o’ or an ‘s’-like sound (‘x’, ‘z’, ‘ss’, ‘ch’, or ‘sh’), we add ‘es’

- go = goes
- fix = fixes
- buzz = buzzes
- miss = misses
- catch = catches
- wash = washes

There is only one irregular form

- have = has

9.2 Present continuous tense

Present continuous for present time

We use the present continuous tense for an action that is happening now or around now. It is unfinished and not permanent or habitual. To show we are talking about the present time, we can use time phrases such as: now, at the moment, currently, at present, nowadays.

- I am living in Colmera at the moment.
- They are going to the meeting. (now)
- I am reading a motorcycle magazine.
- Marcos is repairing his motorcycle.
- At the moment I am teaching English.
- At present we are negotiating a new contract with the Government.

Present continuous for future

Present continuous can also be used for an action happening in the future. In this case we may add a future word, for example: this afternoon, tomorrow, next week/month/year.

- We are going shopping tomorrow.
- My brother is going to Australia next week.
- My friend is coming back to Timor next year.

Construction of present continuous tense

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>+ verb ‘to be’</th>
<th>+ main verb</th>
<th>+ ‘ing’</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I</td>
<td>+ am</td>
<td>+ walk</td>
<td>+ ing</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>He/she/it</td>
<td>+ is</td>
<td>+ walk</td>
<td>+ ing</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>We/you/they</td>
<td>+ are</td>
<td>+ walk</td>
<td>+ ing</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Present continuous spelling

When the verb ends in ‘e’, delete the ‘e’ and add ‘ing’.

- ache = ach+ing = aching
- drive = driv+ing = driving
- wave = wav+ing = waving
For all other verbs, add ‘ing’.

- stay = staying
- try = trying
- carry = carrying

Present continuous exceptions

We do not usually use the following verbs in the continuous tense.

Emotion and thought:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>believe</th>
<th>dislike</th>
<th>doubt</th>

For all these verbs, we do not use present continuous. Instead we must use simple present tense.

Incorrect: Present continuous

- ❌ I am knowing your friend.
- ❌ He is not understanding the teacher.
- ❌ I am remembering your birthday.

Correct: Simple present

- ✓ I know your friend.
- ✓ He does not understand the teacher.
- ✓ I remember your birthday.
9.3 Simple Past Tense

Function of simple past tense

The simple past tense is used to describe actions that happened at a past time, which have been completed at the time of speaking.

We can use a time phrase when we use the past tense, for example: yesterday, last week, two weeks ago, last night.

- Last night I watched television with my family.
- I started my new job yesterday.
- My brother bought a new motor cycle last week.
- I lived there many years ago.

Structure of past tense

The verb ‘to be’ is irregular:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Verb</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I/he/she/it</td>
<td>Was</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>we/you/they</td>
<td>Were</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Where the verb ends in a consonant plus ‘y’ we delete the ‘y’ then add ‘ied’.

- carry = carr+ied = carried
- dry = dr+ied = dried

For all other verbs, add ‘ed’.

- employ = employed
- walk = walked
- start = started

Some verbs are irregular. These needs to be learned. There is a list of irregular verbs in section 9.9

Pronunciation

The pronunciation of final ‘ed’ depends on the last sound in the verb.

If it is ‘t’ or ‘d’, then the sound is ‘ed’.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>started</th>
<th>Started</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>decide</td>
<td>Decided</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

If it is any other voiceless consonant (p, k, s, ch, sh), then the sound is ‘t’.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>

<th>Pronunciation</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>

<tr>

<td>Askt</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>missed</td>
<td>Mist</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>watch</td>
<td>Watcht</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>wished</td>
<td>Wisht</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
If it is a vowel or any other voiced consonant (b, g, z, v, l, m, n, r, w, y) then the sound is ‘d’.

<table>

9.4 Present Perfect

Function of present perfect

The present perfect is used when talking about a past event which is still relevant now. The action in the past has a result now.

- Marcos has lost his mobile phone. (He lost it, and still hasn’t found it.)
- ExxonMobil has discovered a new oil field in the Timor Sea. (They discovered oil, and hope it will make them rich.)

We also can use present perfect when we talk about a period of time that continues from the past until now.

- I have been here for about a year.
- I have been here since 2011. (i.e. from 2011 to now)
- I haven’t seen my friend since last week.
- I have been busy this week. (From Monday until now; this week has not yet finished.)

We can use the present perfect with adverbs such as just, yet, already.

- I haven’t found a job yet. (not yet = seidauk)
- She has just finished breakfast. (just = foin)
- I have already finished the report. (already = tiha ona)

Structure of present perfect

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>verb ‘have’</th>
<th>past participle</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>He/she/it</td>
<td>Has</td>
<td>Walked</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I/we/you/they</td>
<td>have</td>
<td>Walked</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The past participle for regular verbs is the same as the simple past (verb + ‘ed’), but for irregular verbs it must be memorised.

There is a list of irregular verbs and their past participles in section 9.9.
9.5 Forming yes-no questions

Questions with the verb ‘to be’

With the verb ‘to be’, we move the verb to the front. The verb must still agree with the subject.

Statement:  He is sick today.

Question:  Is he sick today?

- Is she your sister?
- Are you busy?
- Was the examination difficult?
- Were the students late?

Sentences with an auxiliary

All other questions need an auxiliary. If the statement has an auxiliary, then move the auxiliary to the front, before the subject. Auxiliaries include: ‘to be’ for present continuous, ‘have’ for present perfect, and modal auxiliaries such as can, could, may, might, shall, should, will, would.

This example shows how to form a question in the present continuous tense.

Positive:  They will go to work today.

Question:  Will they go to work today?

- Would you like to go to the party?
- Can you play chess?
- Are you going to work tomorrow? (present continuous)
- Is he watching television at the moment? (present continuous)
- Have you had lunch yet? (present perfect)
- Has your sister returned from Australia? (present perfect)

Sentences without an auxiliary

If a statement does not have the verb ‘to be’, and does not have an auxiliary, then you need to add the auxiliary ‘do’. The auxiliary verb must still agree with the subject, as usual, the main verb stays in the infinitive.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Auxiliary ‘do’ (agrees with subject)</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Main verb (infinitive)</th>
<th>Rest of sentence</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Does</td>
<td>your sister</td>
<td>Live</td>
<td>in Dili?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do</td>
<td>you</td>
<td>Play</td>
<td>football?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Did</td>
<td>John</td>
<td>like</td>
<td>the movie?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

9.6 ‘WH’ question words

‘WH’ questions are ‘open’ questions. They are used to find information. This is how the different ‘WH’ words are used. As in all questions, the verb comes first, after the ‘WH’ word.

- Who
  - Person
  - Who is the duty manager today? John is.
  - Who did you go with? I went with Martin and Jo.

- Whose
  - Owner
  - Whose bicycle is that? It belongs to Julia.
  - Whose house did you go to? We went to auntie Di’s.

- When
  - Time
  - When is your flight to Singapore? Tomorrow afternoon.
  - When did you arrive in Dili? Last Thursday.

- What
  - Thing/event
  - What is this? It’s an ‘X box’.
  - What did she say? She said, “No!”
  - What happened? He resigned.
  - What is the date today? Today is the 15th.

- What + noun
  - What time is the meeting? It is at 8pm.
  - What size are you looking for? A size 8.
  - What kind of music do you like? Jazz and rock.
  - What type of mobile did you buy? A Nokia.

- Why
  - Reason
  - Why is the plane late? Because there was a big storm.

- Where
  - Place
  - Where is the meeting being held? At Hotel Timor.
  - Where are you going? I’m going to the university.

- Which
  - Choice between alternatives
  - Which is the best cafe: Cafe Aroma or City Cafe? I prefer Cafe Aroma.
  - Which one do you prefer? I prefer that one.

- How
  - General information
  - How is your family? They’re all well.
  - How was the meeting? It was long and boring.
  - How means, method
  - How do you spell that please? It’s spelled ‘J O’.
  - How do you turn this computer on? Press on that button there.

- How + adjective
  - Degree. See section 1.3.
  - How long did you stay in Bali? Two weeks.
  - How many bags do you have? Three.
  - How far is the airport from the city? Eight kilometres.
9.7 Forming ‘WH’ questions

With ‘WH’ questions the verb order is the same as in ‘yes/no’ questions except that there is a ‘WH’ word or phrase before the auxiliary.

WH questions with the verb ‘to be’

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>‘WH’</th>
<th>‘to be’</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Rest of sentence</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Where</td>
<td>is</td>
<td>he</td>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>What type of bike</td>
<td>is</td>
<td>it?</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>How far</td>
<td>is</td>
<td>Suai</td>
<td>from Dili?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

WH questions with other verbs

As in yes-no questions, you must use an auxiliary. If there is no auxiliary in a statement, then add the auxiliary ‘do’.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>‘WH’</th>
<th>Auxiliary</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Main verb (infinitive)</th>
<th>Rest of sentence</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Where</td>
<td>are</td>

<td>does</td>
<td>the meeting</td>
<td>start?</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Which one</td>
<td>did</td>
<td>you</td>
<td>buy</td>
<td>at the market?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

9.8 Forming negatives

Negatives with the verb ‘to be’

When forming negative sentences we use not. With the verb ‘to be’, not comes after the verb.

- They are not very diligent.
- Justin is not American.

Often not is abbreviated to n’t. It then either joins with the pronoun or joins with the verb to make one word.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Long form</th>
<th>Abbreviation</th>
<th>Example</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I am not</td>
<td>I’m not</td>
<td>I’m not ready yet.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>He/she/it is not</td>
<td>He/... isn’t</td>
<td>The drill isn’t here.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>We/you/they are not</td>
<td>We/... aren’t</td>
<td>We aren’t late.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>He/she/it was not</td>
<td>He/... wasn’t</td>
<td>He wasn’t a good worker.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>We/you/they were not</td>
<td>We/... weren’t</td>
<td>They weren’t worried.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Negatives with other verbs

With all other verbs, the negative (not or n’t) follows an auxiliary verb. If there is no auxiliary verb, then add ‘do’.

Often not is abbreviated to n’t. It then joins with the auxiliary to make one word.
<table>
<thead>

Comparisons

When we compare two (or more) people or things we use a ‘comparative’ adjective plus ‘than’.

- John is taller than Bill.

When we want to say that someone is taller or smarter than everyone else we use ‘the’ plus a ‘superlative’ adjective.

- I am the tallest. = I am taller than everyone else.

Comparative adjectives

With adjectives of one syllable: we add ‘er’.

- large > larger (than)
- small > smaller (than)

With two-syllable adjectives ending in ‘y’; we delete the ‘y’ and add ‘ier’.

- easy > easier (than)
- busy > busier (than)

With other adjectives with two or more syllables we use ‘more’ followed by the adjective.

- expensive > more expensive (than)
- difficult > more difficult (than)

Superlative adjectives

With adjectives with one syllable we use ‘the’ and add ‘est’.

- large > the largest;
- small > the smallest

With two-syllable adjectives ending in ‘y’; we delete the ‘y’ and add ‘iest’.

- easy > the easiest
- busy > the busiest

With other adjectives with two or more syllables we use ‘the most’ followed by the adjective.

- expensive > the most expensive
- difficult > the most difficult

Spelling

When an adjective ends in a vowel + a consonant, we double the consonant.

- big > bigger (than) or the biggest
- thin > thinner (than) or the thinnest
Irregular forms

There are some adjectives that do not follow these rules. You need to memorise them.

9.11 Uncountable nouns, ‘many’, ‘much’ and ‘a lot of’

Countable and uncountable nouns

Nouns can be countable or uncountable.

Countable nouns can be counted: e.g. one spanner, two spanners; one nail, four nails.

An uncountable noun cannot be counted. For instance, we cannot count water, oil or rice. We cannot give a number to an uncountable noun but we can give a quantity. e.g. three litres of oil; a bottle of water; five kilograms of rice.

Uncountable nouns take a singular verb.

- Petrol is expensive.
- There is no water left in the bottle.

‘Much’ / ‘many’ / ‘a lot of’

Much is used with uncountable nouns such as rice, water, and petrol.

- How much rice would you like?
- Australians don’t eat much rice.

Many is used with countable nouns such as bolts, screws or knives.

- How many nails are there in that box?
- There are many students in this class.

A lot of and lots of can be used with both countable and uncountable nouns. There is no difference between the two.

- I have a lot of friends. = I have lots of friends.
- We have a lot of work to do to finish this project on time. = We have lots of work to do to finish this project on time.

9.12 Definite and indefinite articles

Overview

English has two articles: ‘the’ and ‘a/an’. We use the before a noun when it is clear which person or thing we mean. That’s why the is called a ‘definite article’.
We use a when we are not referring to a specific item. That’s why a is called an ‘indefinite article’.

- My father is a doctor. (There are many doctors and he is one.)
- The doctor from the clinic came to attend to my son last night. (This is one specific doctor.)

So, when we first introduce something, we use a and when we talk about it again, we use the.

- We had a meal at a restaurant near the beach. The restaurant was very busy and the meal was very good.

Using ‘a’ or ‘an’

Whether to use a or an depends on the sound that the next word begins with.

We use a if the next word begins with a consonant sound: a hospital, a boy, a bicycle, a tree, a dog, a big cat. Note that some words are written with an initial vowel, but sound like they have an initial ‘y’. We use a with these words too: a user, a utensil, a utility room, a university, a union.

We use an if the next word begins with a vowel sound: an orange, an apple, an egg, an oven, an organic garden, an onion. Note that some words are written with an initial silent ‘h’ but sound like they start with a vowel. We use an with these words too: an hour, an honest person.

Rules for using ‘the’

We use the when it is clear which person or thing we mean. So we use it for:

- People or things which are unique, and everybody knows about: the queen of England, the Prime Minister, the sun.
- People or things which we have already started talking about: I bought a book and a newspaper yesterday. The book was expensive, but the newspaper was cheap.

However, in English we do not use any article before most place names:

- continents: Asia, Europe, Africa.
- most countries/territories or states: Italy, Mexico, Brazil, Portugal. However there are a few country names which include the: the Netherlands, the Philippines, the United States, the United Kingdom.
- cities or towns: Manila, Miami, Dili.
- streets: Comoro Road, Banana Road
- most mountains: Mount Everest, Mount Fuji. The names of ranges (long lines of mountains) do take the: the Andes, the Rockies.
- islands: Atauro Island, Christmas Island

Do use ‘the’ before:

- names of rivers, oceans, seas: the Nile, the Amazon River, the Pacific, the Timor Sea.
- points on the globe: the equator, the North Pole, the tropics.
- geographical areas: the Middle East, the Far East.
- acronyms: UNESCO, DIT, ASEAN.
Here are some other common types of nouns which don't take an article:

- languages and nationalities: Chinese, English, Spanish. (You do use ‘the’ if you are referring to the people: of the nation: ‘The Spanish are known for their warm hospitality.’)
- sports: football, volleyball, basketball.
- diseases: malaria, dengue fever, AIDS, cancer. Exceptions are: the flu, a cold.
- meals: breakfast, lunch, dinner

9.13 ‘Some’ and ‘any’

In general we use ‘some’ in positive sentences and ‘any’ in negative sentences and questions.

Some is used in positive sentences:

- I asked for some information about the job.
- I need some screws to finish this job.
- We need some help to move these boxes.

Any is generally used in negative sentences:

- He doesn’t have any experience.
- We didn’t have any nails so we used screws.

Any is used for most questions:

- Do you have any spare hacksaw blades?
- Do you have any information about your oil company?
- Have you applied for any jobs recently?

But some is used for making offers or asking for things, even if you use a question:

- Would you like some tea?
- Would you like some ice-cream with your pudding?
- Could you give me some assistance?
- Can I have some time off work tomorrow?

9.14 Compounds with ‘some’ and ‘any’

Someone and somebody mean ‘some person’. Anyone and anybody mean exactly the same, but are used in negative statements and most questions.

Something and anything mean ‘some thing’.

Somewhere and anywhere mean ‘some place’.

All these words are used in the same way as some and any. (These are described in section Error! Reference source not found.)

Some is used in positive sentences:

- Someone/somebody is here to see you.
- I’m hungry, I want something to eat.
- Inês is going somewhere, but she won’t tell us where. It is a secret.
Any is used in negative sentences:

- John didn’t like the party, because he didn’t know anyone/anybody there.
- I’m not hungry, I don’t want anything to eat.
- I’m not going anywhere tonight, because I’m too tired.

Any is used in most questions:

- Does anybody/anyone mind if I turn on the fan?
- Is anything wrong?
- In Dili, is it safe to go anywhere at night?

But some is used for making offers or asking for things, even if you use a question form:

- Can someone/somebody please help me?
- Would you like something to eat?
- Please put this money somewhere safe, so that thieves can’t find it.

9.15 Conjunctions: ‘and’, ‘or’, ‘but’

When we write we can join clauses with conjunctions to form complex sentences. Here are some important conjunctions and how they are used.

‘And’ (Tetun ‘no’, ‘i’, ‘ho’) links phrases or clauses which are both true.

- Yesterday it was hot and sunny.
- My name is Ken and I come from New Zealand.
- My friend can speak Indonesian and Portuguese.

‘Or’ (Tetun ‘ka’) can be used to show choice.

- Would you like coffee or tea?
- Is this sugar or salt?
- Did she say ‘fifteen’ or ‘fifty’?

‘But’ (Tetun ‘maibee’) is used to link items that have contrasting meanings.

- Your computer is very old but it is still useful.
- My brother speaks Tetun and English but he doesn’t speak Portuguese.

9.16 Conjunctions: ‘because’, ‘so’, ‘therefore’; ‘although’

Here are some conjunctions to link a reason and a result.

‘because’ (‘tanba’)

- I took a taxi to the office because it was too far to walk.
- We didn’t play football because it was raining.

‘so’ (‘nunee, entaun, nee duni’)

- It was too far to walk so I took a taxi.
- It was raining, so we didn’t play football. We played cards instead.
‘therefore’ (‘tanba nee’)
- He hasn’t attended any classes. Therefore he can’t sit the examination.
- The score at the end of the game was a draw. Therefore these two teams will have to play again.

The following conjunctions all mean ‘maski’: though, although, even though.
- My sister applied for the job though she didn’t really have the right qualifications.
- He telephones his family every weekend although it is very expensive.
- Even though the teacher explained everything, some of the students still didn’t understand.
- I agreed to work night shift even though I was very tired.

Both ... and ... can be used together to emphasise that two things are true.
- At the market I saw both my brother and my sister.
- My new office is both comfortable and big.
- My new job as a customer services officer is both interesting and well paid.

Either ... or ... emphasises that there is a choice between two alternatives.
- We can either go to the beach or to the market. We can’t go to both.
- I have left my keys either in the office or at the restaurant; I don’t know which.
- You can either apply for a job now or continue your studies. You can’t do both.

Neither ... nor ... emphasises that two things are both not true.
- Some people can neither use a computer nor use a mobile phone.
- When my brother went to Australia he neither phoned nor wrote.
- I have got neither the time nor the money to go on holidays.

9.17 Conjunctions of time
Some common time conjunctions are:
before (‘molok’, ‘antes’),
- Turn off the power before you repair the machine.
- Before you eat, you should wash your hands.

after (‘liu tiha’)
- After you turn off the power, it is safe to repair the machine.
- I usually brush my teeth after breakfast and always before going to bed.

since (‘dezde’, ho mos ‘tanba’)
- It is a long time since I saw you.
- Ever since he finished his degree, he has received a lot of job offers.

when (‘bainhira’)
- It was raining when I left work last night.
- When I lived in Brazil, I visited the Amazon.
while (‘bainhira, durante’)

- My friend listens to music while he works on his computer.
- While you are at university, you should study hard.

9.18 ‘Should’ / ‘shouldn’t’

Should is a modal verb. It is used to give advice and to make recommendations. Should is not as strong as must. Both should and must are always used before another verb; that other verb must be in the infinitive.

- You should speak to the manager. = It is a good idea (Diak liu...).
- You must speak to the manager. = There is no alternative (tenki).
- You shouldn’t use your mobile phone when driving. = Polite advice (Diak liu la bele...).
- You mustn’t use your mobile phone when driving. = Prohibition (La bele).

9.19 Using nouns, adjectives and adverbs to describe change

Adjectives describe a noun.

- There has been a rapid increase in the price of oil. (rapid = fast)

Adverbs add information to verbs, adjectives and other adverbs. Often we can form an adverb by adding ‘ly’ to an adjective. (However, not all words ending in ‘ly’ are adverbs.)

- The price of oil increased rapidly last month.
- There was a very rapid increase in the price of oil last month.
